

EDITORIAL

We are pleased to announce Volume 6, Issue 1 of Journal of Lumbini Engineering College (LEC Journal). Here, we include all the accepted articles contributed from the researchers of different discipline after the peer review. As we know that technical Education not only plays a vital role in the development of the nation but also helps to develop the habit of critical thinking and analyzing competency of academicians and thinker. LEMSC being a leading engineering college affiliated to Pokhara University, realizes to contribute something which contributes to the researchers and political thinkers and students by means of the publication of articles. From the previous issues we learnt many more from the comments of well-wishers, contributors and seniors.

The main aim of the our journal is to share the knowledge, information and experiences of the different discipline of engineering and technology such as civil, structural, geotechnical, transportation, water resources, construction management, environmental, electrical, electronic, computer, engineering physics, medicine, agriculture and humanities. All the professors, researchers and students of above mentioned discipline are requested to provide quality of articles to strengthen the quality of LEC Journal. Our team are enthusiastically engage to make its layout more effective and publish your article in time. At this time, we would like to thanks all the contributors and reviewers without your help it would not be in this form. Thank you all. Finally, any constructive comments, suggestions, queries and correspondence for the improvement of quality of the journal from anyone are highly appreciable.

Dr. K. N. Pandey
Chief Editor