

Editorial

The present Research Journal is the second open access peer-reviewed multidisciplinary journal published by The Research Unit of Mahendra Ratna Multiple Campus (MRMC) Ilam, the first QAA certified constituent campus of Tribhuvan University, Nepal. The 9th volume of this journal aims to bring teachers of this campus to an academic landscape where they can actively engage in writing and research works for their personal and professional growth.

The articles included here are from faculty researchers from both inside and outside the campus so that we can share academic knowledge, research nuances and technical aspects in the changed context of researching. The articles vary in their nature and contents depending on subjects and disciplines addressing both local and global issues. We believe that academic knowledge should be shared among scholars and students periodically to strengthen academia through teaching, learning and researching.

We would like to extend our thanks and gratitude to the contributors and peer - reviewers of the manuscripts. Acknowledgements are also due to language editors and editorial team of the present volume. Constructive comments and feedback are always welcome.
