A promising journey of Vox Batauli, a double-blind peer review journal, since the last ten years, has reached its 9th volume. Capturing the spirit of the digitalized universe of Intelligentsia, this volume is bound to produce a wider reception again. Its originality lies in its deep concern with the collection of writers in their creative and critical momentum that would stir and renew the space of academia to some extent. The renewal process through writing is a never-ending movement towards eternity; those involved in it are bound to be alive and immortalized forever. In this sense, Vox Batauli, with its sparkling thoughts and ideas, is expected to remain like an ever-burning light in the universe of academia. The present volume of this journal has used both APA and MLA formatting systems to accommodate articles of different natures. Constructive comments and suggestions are our guidelines, and we always hope to advance in the coming days.

Finally, we would like to express our deep gratitude to all the contributors and reviewers for their dedication and cooperation, without which the journal would not come to its present shape and texture.
